

FOCUS FORCE MILWAUKEE

PROGRAM OVERVIEW - EMPLOYER

Focus Force Milwaukee (FFMKE) provides job experience and training services to assist individuals in finding and qualifying for meaningful employment and helps employers find the skilled workers they need to compete and succeed.

The pilot program offers career opportunities in the energy efficiency industry and provides participants with soft skill training, technical training in various fields, job experience and coaching, stipends and salaries, and career placement.

The purpose of this pilot is to create a pathway and relationship to support long-term employment. The pilot team will introduce trained applicants to employers, and participating employers will look to continue long-term employment once an employer's probationary period and the pilot subsidy have concluded.

SEEKING EMPLOYERS TO PARTICIPATE

The pilot program is seeking businesses to employ participants in energy efficiency careers. Participating employers will benefit from:

- Access to qualified/trained professionals ready to be employed.
    - Program participants will be trained in soft-skills and will have completed one of MATC's Badge Programs and have completed BPI certification or relevant training experience.
        - BPI: Building Analyst Technician
        - MATC Badge or Diploma Program
- Receiving a wage subsidy for eight weeks for employing a program participant in an intern or full-time position.
- Ongoing support from Focus Force Milwaukee staff on employee management and job coaching.

PROGRAM APPLICATION

To apply, interested employers must agree to the following:

- Sign agreement form and verify job availability.
- Participate in an introductory “webinar” or participate in a meeting with Focus Force Milwaukee staff member to onboard your firm.
- Complete employer survey after four months of employment or after the wage subsidy is completed if the participant did not meet your long-term employee requirements
